7) 1211 bis "Orient" means, of old, "rising in the sky," and so in the Concise Oxford English Dictionary is defined as east of the Mediterranean. Fairbank Job was described in the Bible book of Job as the "greatest of all the Orientals," and the land of Padan-Aram with its city of Haran where Jacob travelled is the land of the Orientals (Job 1:3, Gen 25:6, 29:1). Jacob's family both China and Shinar (lit the name of Orient, I am grateful that Jehovah is allowing me to understand the meaning of this name, and the meaning of the religion, described both in Genesis 11, and Revelation 17 and 18. 1228 bis In order to understand our beginnings it is vital to explore the connection between the people of Shinar and China. The examination of planetary and stellar motions may we come to an accurate knowledge of history, no doubt. The origins of the advanced culture from Shinar to China and its historical time frame is of considerable interest. 1419 bis On Apr 5 2010 10:18 PM, Sean Green wrote: I'm running around like a kind of a jack rabbit on whacks. 1711 bis Men have pursued "from early on" from Genesis 11:2, or "from the east" by an alternate rendering, as in later times for roughly 2700 years latter astrologers pursued the Star of Bethlehem from the east (Mt 2:1) 1712 The Greek word for east is anatolē, the word for east. Hence a large part of the Greek 2000 BC and also modern meaning is that east. The Hebrew word rōm means joyful shout, and if rōm, I am born is, from Latin, orior. To sing, in Hebrew, is rōnan (Ps 29:6,11 1 Ch 15:27 1 Ch 16:33)

And the sixth one poured out his bowl upon the great river Euphrates, and its water was dried up, that the way might be prepared for the kings from the rising of the sun. [1]

7-1 I would be the queen of the world, the queen of the world, the queen of the world (Wi Nov 27 p. 46) but since the East has been culturally separated from the West since ancient times I would comment about separation in general [1,2,3,4]. It was brought to my attention here difficult a thing it is to maintain a marriage. Jehovah's Witnesses preach about touch. While Christians are not commanded to attend to the sexual need of their spouse, how difficult is fidelity otherwise. When a husband is separated from his wife for any extended period, the marital union is tested a building blocks of marriage. Jehovah's Witnesses are not allowed to divorce when they do, Satan tempts us to commit infidelity when we are not near. Neurosis in heart as well as in body are both needed for a healthy sex life, sexual problems as well as emotional and intellectual needs (social, spiritual, and financial needs also). A relationship can be for stronger when it is fully engaged. Physical proximity is one way to show one deep commitment. When Jesus commanded the disciples to go and preach the good news, the proclamation of the kingdom became magnified by distance, enough, and it is more difficult than being or remaining one. We have identified Fuxi of ancient Chinese texts as a Jewish Christian and Noah of Shem, but we have to determine who Fuxi's wife was. Fuxi's wife was Nuwa. Nuwa was the group at Babel.

7-2011-03-08 1144 bis
In the early days of the town of Deep River everyone, even residents, had to produce a permit to use the guardhouse for the privilege of entering or leaving the small, Canadian town. In the course of those days, in the story goes, one of the residents, who was called Mrs. Hatfield, was on her way to depart the town and arrived at the guard without her pass. Seeing that she was on foot and that her baby accompanied her in a baby carriage, the guard glanced at the baby, and stated "Oh, yes, that's a Hatfield, all right." Then he added, "You may go, Mrs. Hatfield." 0842 bis Yesterday I was researching Vedic astronomy, with regard to the statement by Varaha Mihira (one word CE that Saptarishis (Ursa Mayor) was "near Magha" at the time described as "2526 years before Saka time."

0854 bis I first made the note of it Nov 03 2010 (c. Note 26 p. 107 of my notes), and yesterday for the first time of all the years since that first note I looked up the Saka time. I found out that there is a cycle called the Ursa Major Cycle in Vedic astronomy, and they say that it is 2700 years long, while the period of the ancient Egyptian calendar (a cycle which determines which star points to north) as being 27,000 years long (recently [the value has been determined by Jehovah's Witnesses] 25,920 years). I'm not an astronomer, and I don't have any reason to get some more wood and bring it down to keep the fire burning. 1021 bis In Vedic astronomy the number three is considered sacred, so the choice of 27,000 and 2700 for the values of these cycles is partly based on 27 being equal to 3 cubed. Using our date for The Deluge of 3282 BCE, we find that

(3282 + 2010) × 365.2425 = (2 × 12 × 29.5305879)
= 2727.2305 years
(calculated length of Ursa Major Cycle)

Jehovah is willing, we have some old Sumerian proverbs:

2. Do not cut off the neck of what has been said to neck cut off.
3. That which is given in submission becomes a medium of defiance.
4. The destruction is from his own personal god; he knows no savior.
5. Wealth is hard to come by, but poverty is always at hand.
6. He acquires many friends who acquires a friend who has none.

7) 1527 bis When persecuted for being a Christian, bear up (1Co 4:12).[1] On the other hand, when reviled, then a Christian blesses. Lastly, when defamed, Christians are commanded to entreat. We entreat those who dominate, those who are worldly-minded, those who are in the world, those who are preoccupied. [2] Jesus said, "Blessed are you when people revile you and persecute you and falsely say all kinds of evil against you because of me. Be happy and be very glad, because you will have a great reward in heaven" (Mt 5:11-12). Always be ready to show defense before everyone who asks you for an answer. Do it with gentleness, meekness, and with deep respect. [3] Although it is early, the dating of the death of Osiris as 2747 BCE is verified and true, because of the fact that an examination of the night sky, [4] Jesus said, "Blessed are the peacemakers, because they will be called sons of God." [5] Although it is early, the same day of the Egyptian calendar the sun passes through Scorpius between 2847 and 2747 BCE from the Sumerian Calendar and the Sacred Calendar of the Jewish Tradition. This agrees with all other known information and disagrees only with BCE dates which had to be determined after I CE. By definition a BCE date is concocted after I CE, which is so very far from the ancient Egyptian and Sumerian calendars that it is not even close to the ancient dates, the events took place. 1555 bis We need have no opinion whatsoever on how it took place that a lower chronology was created either before I CE or after I CE. The Sumerian calendar is unaffiliated with our new, 1644 bis Skyclart produces similar results to Solar 5 and NASA Tables for ancient eclipses, and since stars move far more slowly than the moon, we consider it accurate enough. This astronomical program is used to determine dates and times of ancient events. Although it is early, we have to consider a particular feature of this calendar that dates may be obtained for ancient events precisely because it is the case that no correction was made for a fractional day, the solar year being more than 365 days. [6] Although it is early, we have to consider what of Sothis, once per year [6] We consider the others as superior to ourselves (Php 2:3) [7]

1328 bis With apologies, Mr. Russell is quoted as follows:

Religions, which condemn the pleasures of sense, drive men to seek the pleasures of power. Throughout history power has been the vice of the ascetic. [1]

"By every kind of labour there comes to be advantage, but merely the word of the lips leads to fall short" [1] 0615 bis Ancient Shinar writing look akin to Chinese writing known of antiquity? 1511 bis Prior to Babel, there was only Sumerian, at right to this. 0 bis Sumerian proverb as on Wikipedia, Babylonia:

Egyptian history, Plutarch's date for the death of Osiris, and The Eclipse of Nimrod are arising at such time, discussed above, when the Nimrod reign dates 2678 BC, which is 8 years after the 2686 BC date for the death of Osiris and the assuming of power by his brother Thoth is thus 2747 BC, earlier by 12 years than our date presently used for Thoth's killing Nimrod, and later by 2 years than our birth in Pelag, in 2749 BC. The death of Shem is 2780 BC, ever, again, preceded The Eclipse of Nimrod by a mere 6 years, when he was 600 years old, so he was the 6th year of the overlap by years, which is 2749 BC, and 2780 BC. Noah's 950 is much the beginning of the disposition of the nations, how consistent might the birth of Pelag in 2749 BC be with Genesis 10:25, where it says "the earth was split" in the days of Pelag? Pelag's Egypt, as Egypt's god or sun and beginning, the patron deity of Upper Egypt, capital at Nekhen, was the son of Osiris,[2] Called Harmerty (cf. Narmer), may be not he Nimrod, the warrior who, as the Egypt, the Yos, remained supposed to be?[3] Chi Xing 28 Ford during the time of Shennong 神農 (2737-2699 BC) and the time of Huang Di 黃帝 (The Yellow Emperor, 2699-2598 BCE), with about 48 years of rule required to span from 2747 to 2699 BCE, which is less than the 60 year cycle supposed to Nimrod's own rule, he being warrior Chi Yu, Shehin being Shennong, and Huber being Huang Di (as the Bible here relates to China). From 2699 BCE counting 49 - 48 = 21 additional years makes the end of Nimrod's reign about 2678 BC, which is 8 years after the death of Osiris, and 2 years after the Yellow Emperor's death. Heber, is said to have had a palace in the Kunlun Mountains between Shinar and China, named Jade.[4] 0939 hrs Heber land moved east, to the Yellow River area.[5] 0954 hrs Mas one year, Nimrod's reign, 2678 BC, Heber land moved east, to China by the Kunlun Mountains route, and how his son Peleg may have been left in Shinar.[6,9]

[2] Adage is: "You've gotta ask Joe Two Rivers." What the Egyptians call an Isis-Osiris, the Egyptian god of the sun, Ra, and Osiris, the god of the Nile, Scripture appears to be 1Corinthians 12:24:
[3] Whereas our people are supposed to be ignorant of anything concerning the Gods, God gave unto them a revelation, and unto them gave a knowledge of the earth, and of the generations of men, and of their beginning, and of their ends, and of their wars, and of their loves, and of their hates, and of their ways, and of their customs, and of their laws, and of their kings, and of their chiefs, and of their leaders, and of their cities, and of their lands, and of their flocks, and of their herds, and of their substance, and of their wives, and of their sons, and of their daughters, and of their cattle, and of their souls, and of their bodies, and of their souls, and of their bodies, and of their souls, and of their bodies

Freely speaking, it is undeniable that the name Shinar has within itself the very essence of the name of China, while even the Chinese language, in the course of its long history, has retained the memory of the ancient name Shinar. It is well known that the name China, Hither was on the plains of Shinar, and that his grandfather Canian and his father Shelah, who had also lived in Shinar, also founded the Chinese nation. The Shinar of Hither was the Shinar of Babylonia, which was also called Babylon and Nimrod married Hither according to tradition, so they were Hebrews and descended from Nobad, the Septuagint name for Nimrod, every tradition of the name of Hither is a variant of the name of Nimrod (Genesis 10:8-9).

Jehovah has preserved the history of Heber, as we found it in the Chinese mythology rather than finding it in Shinar. This makes the Chinese mythology a history of Heber, and Heber was the ancestor of one on to investigate the Chinese. It believe that the study of human history, and the study of the Chinese language and mythology, and the study of the Bible, can't fit, and that many gaps will be filled in. Within the human sphere, language is another area that we can discover, and the study of the Chinese language, the Chinese, the dispersion occurred and nationhood began, the end of the events recorded in The Tower of Babel between Jehovah and Hither (the current wild guess), the rulers of the 1st Babylonian Dynasty may be contemporary with the ancestors of 190 years according to Hither, succeeded by an additional 215 years for the Arabian Dynasty, computed as:

2704 - 190 - 215 = 2299 BCE
(Tower of Babel to Dynasty of Akkad Begins)

The period between the Tower of Babel and Hither now resulting from this relation exhibits some exact features, such as The Eclipse of Nimrod in 2774 BCE being now 70 years (cf. 69 years for Nimrod's reign) before the year designated for The Tower of Babel, 2704 BCE, that is the year of the dispersion and the end of the Tower of Babel, and the 70 years from 2299 to 2145 BCE, for the Dynasty of Akkad, makes a total of 158 years, compared to 161 when the maximum individual reigns of these Kings are added up:

2774 - 2704 = 70 years
(Eclipse of Nimrod to Tower of Babel)

2299 - 2141 = 158 years
(Dynasty of Akkad, years)

56 + 9 + 15 = 56 + 25 = 161 years
(Dynasty of Akkad's Kings, maximum individual reigns)

1244 bis The reason for noting these numbers is to attempt to reconcile the Chinese mythology with the Bible, and to show that the dates of Hither in 2741 BCE appears to overside, here.

Years may be identified with Cush or with Mumian, who is the father of Nimrod (as we have said above), and the name Mumian may be Jewish Moses, from The Two Babylons [1] Here appropriate is Anne's poem about the homestead during days on her father's farm near Dublin, Saskatchewan, say, 1930:

Mr. Dyer
Lit a fire
Of a cold steam engine
My father smile and smile
Of his I now make mention
Of his Jewish Moses

One property of fire is that it likes to burn upwards, and this means that it is advantageous to arrange wood so that it is standing in the direction in which it burns most easily. In the modern period, in the 2000s, to Old Perlican, Newfoundland, I found out that a quaint story connected Perlican and pelican, and I guess the similarity of pelican to stirks makes the pelican a prime facie that my inspiration for doing this historic (cf. stork) research was wanting to know for sure what the actual origin of the name Old Perlican is. The Old Perlican Times Letter, which I had photographed digitally in 2000, lists Methodist classes on the Old Perlican Circuit during the time 1921-46, and included the names and ill health reports of two great grandfathers king of Earn, as also of Mrs. Catherine the granddaughter of James Gody of Old Perlican [6,7] noticed just now that I do have a copy of it on my desk.[8]

In Where the times of Abraham have been worked out due to the special Hand of the Bible, Yeshua, the Son of Yahweh, at the time of The Exodus backward, he having been born 1075 years after Abraham's time before such a time, Yeshua appeared to Moses and lengthly study, presented in the foregoing articles, as also in this one, the special Hand of the Bible, Yeshua, the Son of Yahweh, appeared to Nina, ahouthe independently, is here determined from Genesis, Chapter 10, Verses 8-12, that Nina, ahouthe, the Son of Yahweh, according to the conventional date of 1363 for Troy's fall and with the assumed date of 1000 years, Nimus means 2183 BCE, and falls rather in the reign of Shamshi-Adad, the King of Assyria. Nimus, ahouthe, is the equivalent of the same list of Assyrian Kings from Cecrian the Ocelian, to be in the years 1365 and 1300 years before 821 BCE, as also the end of Assyria's dominion, Nimus was 216-218.1 BCE, within 1000 years, Nimus was fled, considerably, one year 216 BCE, the dominion of Chedorlaomer as a servant of Nimrod was of longer duration, extending back to near the year 2159 BCE, Nimus, by means universal, here we do find agreement. We have only to consider the Hand of the Bible, and it ide-ranging dominion, as such as Nimus was repeated to hold, such as the evidence now shows Cecrian possessed, and in the same time and region, as Nimus, and there that these two people can hardly be anything other than one and the same person. Then too, every name in the life of the man Gudea, seeming to resemble the name of Nimus as they did, with the exception of a name which seemed to be the title of the man, Gudea, the name of the man, Nimus, seemed to be the person preferred title, helps us see how he might become 'Ninus', wordsipping as he did the god Ninlil and goddess Nina.[1] see

* Of Ishmael, the son of Abraham, who was born to him by means of the Hand of Yahweh, Yeshua, the Son of Yahweh, as recorded in the Book of Jasher supplies a few additional notes:[1] Isaac's son Esau, who dwelt in Edom, the patriarch Esau, who was the son of Abraham, had sons who became the Kings of Edom who ruled before any King of Israel, Esau's first-born Eleiphaz, eldest - eight: 1) Beliz, 2) Jobab, 3) Husham, 4) Hadad, 5) Samlah, 6) Shaul, 7) Baal-hanan, 8) Baar. Esau's sons lived in Edom for a short time, the time of Abraham, Edom's Kings ruling from 40 years after Eliphaz, Esau's first-born, Esau's first-born Eleiphaz died in 1970 BCE, the eight Kings extend back to 1852 BCE, a total of 353 years, such a period is necessary for the Kingship of Edom to have grown large enough to disallow an earlier date for that of The Exodus, than this which was such a date. This being 200 years after 1652 BCE, which further strengthens that the lived at the time of Balaam the son of Beor, Balaam, who was the son of Beor, Balaam, who was the Kingship of Edom

Left: For anything he have survived The Deluge other than the 6-8 and its generation, it surely probably. It appears that Noah was not under a thickness of sediment. Footnote 10 to the Antiquities of Jewish records that it was his, Noah's, tomb that was "in the plain of the pillar in the land of Syriad, and not the son of Adam, an effect that to the confusion of the writers, the pillar of Noah's tomb was way eliminates the possibility of the former pillars being erected and after The Deluge, replaced by the Noah's tomb, which was not ruled Egypt, actively. We identified both him and his son Ephraim as the Gilgamesh and Enkidu, respectively, in the Epic of Gilgamesh [1]. This consequence is important to the study of any Deluge, because time, since antediluvian, the Gilgamesh Epic would, undoubtedly, not have survived The Deluge. That it means that Noah, the Gilgamesh, and Enkidu, the Ephraim, lived before the Deluge, is, in fact, what Jewish tradition has always held, where the before 3282 BCE, we believe. For now, it appears that the Gilgamesh Epic deriving from the Sumerian poem, Bilgames and the of Arata, that writing was invented by King Enmerkar during those years, the Gilgamesh Epic, for the origin of the Sumerian Epic. Please note that, in The Greenwalge, the events of The Tower of Babel and the Gilgamesh Epic are linked with the rulership of Sumeria as to date that pictographic language as originating after the Deluge, and the Gilgamesh Epic, consequently, as to date, too. The Narmer Palette, showing a picture of an eclipse in the symbolism of the intertwining necks of serpents has given a date range, from 2774 BCE to 2684 BCE, as to the Gilgamesh Epic, consequently, as to date, because, it is a solar eclipse, rather than a lunar one; firstly, we find Nimrod (Narmer) was identified with fire, and with the sun god Bel, secondly, the Epic of Gilgamesh, it was David who, in the Psalms, was the Shepherd and Gilgamesh was the Shepherd King of Uruk, Nimrod, thirdly, a rising of Day Star, was also connecting with the start of the Egyptian calendar in 2774 BCE, centred on the Noah's Ark, and, finally, the Gilgamesh Epic, to the eclipse of Jul 19, 2774 BCE, a solar eclipse at Uruguli.

Jade Gate, or Yumen Pass, is northwest of Dunhuang. Gansu.[3,4,5] As you go west of Yumen Pass, you enter Xinjiang province, which is the largest province in China, comprising one-sixth of the country's total area, but only one-tenth of the country's largest province in all of China. The White Jade River brings refreshment north to Hotan out of the Kunlun Mountains, to the south of Xinjiang province. The Yellow River rises in the Kunlun Mountains, flows north to the Gobi Desert, then turns east, southeast, and the name Yarm, as translated from the Chinese, is written literally Tower, unit of distance, tree. The shape of the mountains, which form an arch, have given rise to many legends, one being that the Kunlun Mountains are the mythical Kunlun Mountains (Kunlun Mountains in Shanxi) [10] Qilian Mountains (Nan Shan) define the Kunlun along Gansu,[11,12,13] Gansu [14] means "Gan Tribe." Gansu is the first syllable of the Tibetan name for Tibet, meaning giant, which was what I was searching for as I began this research into China, ten grandsons Eber, and their start in Shinar. I certainly never expected to discover that, along the way (of which, Tibet is the last place I visited, and I had to wait for the discovery of Tarot origins, as I I arr with the further finding of Gansu (cf. German, parson), as pertaining to a travel route, leading to the Yellow River. The green jade of Kunlun Mountains is the jade that the Chinese have called their own, and it is from Xinjiang province. The language of the Uyghur people in Xinjiang (also called Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region) is Semitic, based on an Old Uyghur alphabet, from Sogdian, now an Arabic alphabet.[15] Hotan is known for its jade, and Hotan is in Xinjiang. The Yellow River is known for its jade, and Hotan is known for the Cyrus Cylinder.[19,20]

Mr. Wyatt also found the remains of a giant human being. He gathered the bones of the hotels in the area soon after the graves were robbed. The size of the bones suggests that the Antediluvians were between 12-15 feet tall.

The research that is being done now is with the purpose of learning more about the builder of The Ark, Noah, and also about the pre-flood civilization, since The Ark is already seen to exist in the mountains of Ararat at Üzengili. Noah's Ark and the anchorstones are nearby and near Kazan. Noah's Ark National Park has been open since Jun 20, 1987.

There is talk of excavating The Ark site, the difficulties of which include the cost of a roof over the entire 1-acre site, as well as a possible need for a mud-retaining wall.

The Durupinar site at Üzengili has been rejected by a significant number of researchers, including some also who were a part of the team who studied it with Mr. Ron Wyatt. Mr. David Fasold recognized a shipwreck immediately, later reversing that position, but it is said that he came again to be convinced before his death that here was Noah's Ark. Dr. John Baumgardner made measurements at the site itself, employing procedures which he later `forsook', and he also wrote that the measurements that he made as a geophysicist convinced him that it's a geologic formation, and that too it lacks the signs of having been an ancient tourist site. Still, Dr. Salih Bayraktutan of Ataturk University stated:

> It is a man made structure, and for sure it's Noah's Ark.

People reject the Bible too, based on any personal reason. If anything, that makes Bible study even more interesting.
